

WAR.

PARIS, November 26.—The following dispatch has just been received in cipher, from the Herald correspondent in Madrid:

MADRID, November 26.—The situation is grave. On the 19th General Sikes, by order of President Grant, delivered a formal ultimatum to President Castelar, demanding prompt and vigorous reparation for the insult to the flag, the restoration of the Virginias, the release of the surviving prisoners, indemnity of the families of the murdered, and the punishment of the murderers, and also a guarantee against future outrages in Cuba. The demand was couched in a kind, sympathetic tone, but no alternative was given. General Sikes was also instructed to say that if Castelar did not comply with the demand in a week he should ask for his passport and leave Madrid with the Legation. The time expires to-day, and no answer has yet been received. Everything at the Legation is packed up ready for immediate departure.

Sikes has no hope that the ultimatum will be complied with, and telegraphed to Paris yesterday to have all his official correspondence that might be there, kept for a few days. General Sikes, in conversation, says that he does not see how war can be avoided, as Castelar can give no assurance that his order will be obeyed. He feels that unless the ultimatum is accepted, General Sikes leaves immediately. All American ships in the Mediterranean have been ordered to Key West.

In the event of General Sikes leaving, the British Minister will probably protect the archives and the American residents. President Castelar is personally anxious to accept the British Minister's good offices to effect a compromise, there is no hope to-night.

Every town and village should have a fire engine. The price of such a machine, and the cost of keeping it in repair, are as nothing compared with its great utility in subduing a fire. Buckets and ladders frequently serve a very good purpose, but they are measurably useless when a fire gets under headway in the roof of a building.

Boss Tweed has been sentenced to twelve years imprisonment, and to pay a fine of $12,700, as punishment for the numerous unparalleled rascalities which he perpetrated during the time he was "running" New York city. This will doubtless go hard with the old transgressor, as heretofore he had things pretty much to his own notion, and has been unusually successful in escaping serious interruption in the consummation of his schemes of robbery.

He is now sixty-seven years old; so his sentence amounts to imprisonment for life. His conviction and sentence are cause for much encouragement to the law-respecting people of the great city, and they are zealously pushing their efforts for the ultimate conviction and punishment of the plunderers who were connected with the Boss. There is flattering prospect that the whole gang will get their deserts; and the lesson which their conviction and punishment will impart will have a wholesome influence upon similarly inclined, future managers of that kind of affairs.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has been successful in the amount of $100,000 for improvements in the means of conveying cattle and inducing railway companies to adopt them. There is no difficulty in devising trucks to meet all the requirements of a humane treatment of the animals. The question resolves in one of expense. The Society, therefore, stipulates that the cost of the new truck shall not be "greatly in excess of those now in use." One of the premiums offered is 100 pounds to the prizeholder who shall prevail on any railway company to build no less than fifty of the improved trucks for actual use on their line.

Present indications by no means point to a peaceful solution of the Virginias case. Although but a few days since the news was of a nature to warrant the belief that the demands of our Government would be promptly acceded to by the Spanish authorities—thus averting the necessity for a resort to arms to enforce them. But later intelligence is to the effect that the situation is still regarded as perilous, and that our Government is making thorough preparations for an emergency, which it is clear, it deems imminent. From a Washington special telegram to the Cincinnati Commercial, we take the following, which throws important light upon the present status of the case:

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Everything has been quiet during the day on the Spanish complication. No news of importance has been received in official quarters. The reports that have been widely telegraphed, to the effect that orders have been issued stopping work on war vessels, and in the navy-yards and arsenals, are not correct. On the contrary, orders were issued by the Secretary of the Navy, yesterday, to push forward the work of preparation for active service, with still greater vigor. There is, and will be, no let up. The Administration, notwithstanding Secretary Fish's assurances to the contrary, regards the crisis as a perilous one, the issue of which is as probable to war as peace. Even Secretary Fish has, in the last day or two, displayed something of a warlike spirit, at variance with the attitude maintained by him for some time, and talks of the difficulty as one that must be handled boldly and courageously. He utterly scutes the suggestion of submitting the question to arbitration. He says the insult is one which cannot be adjusted by a third party.

Late European news is to the effect that the Castelar Government in Spain is about to be overthrown, and a Regent appointed for a youngster called Alfonso.

The Philadelphia Press says that the "area of ground appropriated at Fairmount Park is 450 acres, and is bounded by the Schuylkill River on the east, Girard avenue on the south, Elm avenue on the south, and Fifty-second street on the west—so that Girard avenue, when graded and paved, as is contemplated, will be the main approach to the buildings. Elm avenue and Fortieth and Forty and Forty-first streets will also lead to the Park, and steps have been taken by Councils looking to the improvement of these thoroughfares, in order that they may be made available before the opening of the Exposition. The ground plans, as approved by the Commission, provides for the erection of a machinery hall, conservatory, art gallery, and the main Exposition building. All of these buildings are to be within easy reach of each other, and upon the most beautiful portion of the park. The grand pavilion, or main Exposition building, will have a frontage of 2,075 feet on Elm avenue, and will have a depth of 1,000 feet. Immediately north, and near to the Lansdowne drive, it is designed to erect the art gallery. West of the Exposition will be the machinery and agricultural halls—the former to be 2,275 long, and the latter 1,420 feet. These are to be connected with the main buildings by a covered passage way. A better idea of the immensity of the work to be performed and of the extent of the ground to be occupied will be had when it is stated that the grand pavilion will cover an area of 36.5 acres, which can be increased to 44.5 acres. Machinery Hall will occupy 9.5 acres, and Agricultural Hall 4.6 acres."

A daughter of Senator Thurman was married in Washington on Tuesday last to Hon. R. C. McCormick, Delegate from Arizona.

JEFF DAVIS' DISGUISE.

His Attempt to Escape Capture in a Woman's Dress—Statement of General Pritchard.

A correspondent of the Lyons (Wayne County, New York), Republican, who lately visited Allegan, called upon General Benjamin D. Pritchard, now a resident of that town, who was, during the war, Colonel of the Fourth Regiment of Michigan Cavalry, and had the good fortune to capture Jeff Davis. In conversation with him the correspondent inquired as to the circumstances of Davis' attempted escape, and gives the story thus:

General Pritchard said: After the escape of Davis from Richmond I received reliable intelligence, and which appeared to me to be all the more reliable from the situation and the necessities of his case—that is to say, that he would endeavor to make his way across the Mississippi into Texas, where a rest of that town, who was, during the war, Colonel of the Fourth Regiment of Michigan Cavalry, and had the good fortune to capture Jeff Davis. In conversation with him the correspondent inquired as to the circumstances of Davis' attempted escape, and gives the story thus:

ports that have been widely telegraphed, to the effect that orders have been issued stopping work on war vessels, and in the navy-yards and arsenals, are not correct. On the contrary, orders were issued by the Secretary of the Navy, yesterday, to push forward the work of preparation for active service, with still greater vigor. There is, and will be, no let up. The Administration, notwithstanding Secretary Fish's assurances to the contrary, regards the crisis as a perilous one, the issue of which is as probable to war as peace. Even Secretary Fish has, in the last day or two, displayed something of a warlike spirit, at variance with the attitude maintained by him for some time, and talks of the difficulty as one that must be handled boldly and courageously. He utterly scutes the suggestion of submitting the question to arbitration. He says the insult is one which cannot be adjusted by a third party.

Late European news is to the effect that the Castelar Government in Spain is about to be overthrown, and a Regent appointed for a youngster called Alfonso.

The Philadelphia Press says that the "area of ground appropriated at Fairmount Park is 450 acres, and is bounded by the Schuylkill River on the east, Girard avenue on the south, Elm avenue on the south, and Fifty-second street on the west—so that Girard avenue, when graded and paved, as is contemplated, will be the main approach to the buildings. Elm avenue and Fortieth and Forty and Forty-first streets will also lead to the Park, and steps have been taken by Councils looking to the improvement of these thoroughfares, in order that they may be made available before the opening of the Exposition. The ground plans, as approved by the Commission, provides for the erection of a machinery hall, conservatory, art gallery, and the main Exposition building. All of these buildings are to be within easy reach of each other, and upon the most beautiful portion of the park. The grand pavilion, or main Exposition building, will have a frontage of 2,075 feet on Elm avenue, and will have a depth of 1,000 feet. Immediately north, and near to the Lansdowne drive, it is designed to erect the art gallery. West of the Exposition will be the machinery and agricultural halls—the former to be 2,275 long, and the latter 1,420 feet. These are to be connected with the main buildings by a covered passage way. A better idea of the immensity of the work to be performed and of the extent of the ground to be occupied will be had when it is stated that the grand pavilion will cover an area of 36.5 acres, which can be increased to 44.5 acres. Machinery Hall will occupy 9.5 acres, and Agricultural Hall 4.6 acres."

A daughter of Senator Thurman was married in Washington on Tuesday last to Hon. R. C. McCormick, Delegate from Arizona.

JEFF DAVIS' DISGUISE.

His Attempt to Escape Capture in a Woman's Dress—Statement of General Pritchard.

A correspondent of the Lyons (Wayne County, New York), Republican, who lately visited Allegan, called upon General Benjamin D. Pritchard, now a resident of that town, who was, during the war, Colonel of the Fourth Regiment of Michigan Cavalry, and had the good fortune to capture Jeff Davis. In conversation with him the correspondent inquired as to the circumstances of Davis' attempted escape, and gives the story thus:

ports that have been widely telegraphed, to the effect that orders have been issued stopping work on war vessels, and in the navy-yards and arsenals, are not correct. On the contrary, orders were issued by the Secretary of the Navy, yesterday, to push forward the work of preparation for active service, with still greater vigor. There is, and will be, no let up. The Administration, notwithstanding Secretary Fish's assurances to the contrary, regards the crisis as a perilous one, the issue of which is as probable to war as peace. Even Secretary Fish has, in the last day or two, displayed something of a warlike spirit, at variance with the attitude maintained by him for some time, and talks of the difficulty as one that must be handled boldly and courageously. He utterly scutes the suggestion of submitting the question to arbitration. He says the insult is one which cannot be adjusted by a third party.

Late European news is to the effect that the Castelar Government in Spain is about to be overthrown, and a Regent appointed for a youngster called Alfonso.

The Philadelphia Press says that the "area of ground appropriated at Fairmount Park is 450 acres, and is bounded by the Schuylkill River on the east, Girard avenue on the south, Elm avenue on the south, and Fifty-second street on the west—so that Girard avenue, when graded and paved, as is contemplated, will be the main approach to the buildings. Elm avenue and Fortieth and Forty and Forty-first streets will also lead to the Park, and steps have been taken by Councils looking to the improvement of these thoroughfares, in order that they may be made available before the opening of the Exposition. The ground plans, as approved by the Commission, provides for the erection of a machinery hall, conservatory, art gallery, and the main Exposition building. All of these buildings are to be within easy reach of each other, and upon the most beautiful portion of the park. The grand pavilion, or main Exposition building, will have a frontage of 2,075 feet on Elm avenue, and will have a depth of 1,000 feet. Immediately north, and near to the Lansdowne drive, it is designed to erect the art gallery. West of the Exposition will be the machinery and agricultural halls—the former to be 2,275 long, and the latter 1,420 feet. These are to be connected with the main buildings by a covered passage way. A better idea of the immensity of the work to be performed and of the extent of the ground to be occupied will be had when it is stated that the grand pavilion will cover an area of 36.5 acres, which can be increased to 44.5 acres. Machinery Hall will occupy 9.5 acres, and Agricultural Hall 4.6 acres."

A daughter of Senator Thurman was married in Washington on Tuesday last to Hon. R. C. McCormick, Delegate from Arizona.

JEFF DAVIS' DISGUISE.

His Attempt to Escape Capture in a Woman's Dress—Statement of General Pritchard.

A correspondent of the Lyons (Wayne County, New York), Republican, who lately visited Allegan, called upon General Benjamin D. Pritchard, now a resident of that town, who was, during the war, Colonel of the Fourth Regiment of Michigan Cavalry, and had the good fortune to capture Jeff Davis. In conversation with him the correspondent inquired as to the circumstances of Davis' attempted escape, and gives the story thus:

ports that have been widely telegraphed, to the effect that orders have been issued stopping work on war vessels, and in the navy-yards and arsenals, are not correct. On the contrary, orders were issued by the Secretary of the Navy, yesterday, to push forward the work of preparation for active service, with still greater vigor. There is, and will be, no let up. The Administration, notwithstanding Secretary Fish's assurances to the contrary, regards the crisis as a perilous one, the issue of which is as probable to war as peace. Even Secretary Fish has, in the last day or two, displayed something of a warlike spirit, at variance with the attitude maintained by him for some time, and talks of the difficulty as one that must be handled boldly and courageously. He utterly scutes the suggestion of submitting the question to arbitration. He says the insult is one which cannot be adjusted by a third party.

Late European news is to the effect that the Castelar Government in Spain is about to be overthrown, and a Regent appointed for a youngster called Alfonso.

The Philadelphia Press says that the "area of ground appropriated at Fairmount Park is 450 acres, and is bounded by the Schuylkill River on the east, Girard avenue on the south, Elm avenue on the south, and Fifty-second street on the west—so that Girard avenue, when graded and paved, as is contemplated, will be the main approach to the buildings. Elm avenue and Fortieth and Forty and Forty-first streets will also lead to the Park, and steps have been taken by Councils looking to the improvement of these thoroughfares, in order that they may be made available before the opening of the Exposition. The ground plans, as approved by the Commission, provides for the erection of a machinery hall, conservatory, art gallery, and the main Exposition building. All of these buildings are to be within easy reach of each other, and upon the most beautiful portion of the park. The grand pavilion, or main Exposition building, will have a frontage of 2,075 feet on Elm avenue, and will have a depth of 1,000 feet. Immediately north, and near to the Lansdowne drive, it is designed to erect the art gallery. West of the Exposition will be the machinery and agricultural halls—the former to be 2,275 long, and the latter 1,420 feet. These are to be connected with the main buildings by a covered passage way. A better idea of the immensity of the work to be performed and of the extent of the ground to be occupied will be had when it is stated that the grand pavilion will cover an area of 36.5 acres, which can be increased to 44.5 acres. Machinery Hall will occupy 9.5 acres, and Agricultural Hall 4.6 acres."

A daughter of Senator Thurman was married in Washington on Tuesday last to Hon. R. C. McCormick, Delegate from Arizona.

JEFF DAVIS' DISGUISE.

His Attempt to Escape Capture in a Woman's Dress—Statement of General Pritchard.

A correspondent of the Lyons (Wayne County, New York), Republican, who lately visited Allegan, called upon General Benjamin D. Pritchard, now a resident of that town, who was, during the war, Colonel of the Fourth Regiment of Michigan Cavalry, and had the good fortune to capture Jeff Davis. In conversation with him the correspondent inquired as to the circumstances of Davis' attempted escape, and gives the story thus:

ports that have been widely telegraphed, to the effect that orders have been issued stopping work on war vessels, and in the navy-yards and arsenals, are not correct. On the contrary, orders were issued by the Secretary of the Navy, yesterday, to push forward the work of preparation for active service, with still greater vigor. There is, and will be, no let up. The Administration, notwithstanding Secretary Fish's assurances to the contrary, regards the crisis as a perilous one, the issue of which is as probable to war as peace. Even Secretary Fish has, in the last day or two, displayed something of a warlike spirit, at variance with the attitude maintained by him for some time, and talks of the difficulty as one that must be handled boldly and courageously. He utterly scutes the suggestion of submitting the question to arbitration. He says the insult is one which cannot be adjusted by a third party.

Late European news is to the effect that the Castelar Government in Spain is about to be overthrown, and a Regent appointed for a youngster called Alfonso.

The Philadelphia Press says that the "area of ground appropriated at Fairmount Park is 450 acres, and is bounded by the Schuylkill River on the east, Girard avenue on the south, Elm avenue on the south, and Fifty-second street on the west—so that Girard avenue, when graded and paved, as is contemplated, will be the main approach to the buildings. Elm avenue and Fortieth and Forty and Forty-first streets will also lead to the Park, and steps have been taken by Councils looking to the improvement of these thoroughfares, in order that they may be made available before the opening of the Exposition. The ground plans, as approved by the Commission, provides for the erection of a machinery hall, conservatory, art gallery, and the main Exposition building. All of these buildings are to be within easy reach of each other, and upon the most beautiful portion of the park. The grand pavilion, or main Exposition building, will have a frontage of 2,075 feet on Elm avenue, and will have a depth of 1,000 feet. Immediately north, and near to the Lansdowne drive, it is designed to erect the art gallery. West of the Exposition will be the machinery and agricultural halls—the former to be 2,275 long, and the latter 1,420 feet. These are to be connected with the main buildings by a covered passage way. A better idea of the immensity of the work to be performed and of the extent of the ground to be occupied will be had when it is stated that the grand pavilion will cover an area of 36.5 acres, which can be increased to 44.5 acres. Machinery Hall will occupy 9.5 acres, and Agricultural Hall 4.6 acres."

A daughter of Senator Thurman was married in Washington on Tuesday last to Hon. R. C. McCormick, Delegate from Arizona.

JEFF DAVIS' DISGUISE.

His Attempt to Escape Capture in a Woman's Dress—Statement of General Pritchard.

A correspondent of the Lyons (Wayne County, New York), Republican, who lately visited Allegan, called upon General Benjamin D. Pritchard, now a resident of that town, who was, during the war, Colonel of the Fourth Regiment of Michigan Cavalry, and had the good fortune to capture Jeff Davis. In conversation with him the correspondent inquired as to the circumstances of Davis' attempted escape, and gives the story thus:

ports that have been widely telegraphed, to the effect that orders have been issued stopping work on war vessels, and in the navy-yards and arsenals, are not correct. On the contrary, orders were issued by the Secretary of the Navy, yesterday, to push forward the work of preparation for active service, with still greater vigor. There is, and will be, no let up. The Administration, notwithstanding Secretary Fish's assurances to the contrary, regards the crisis as a perilous one, the issue of which is as probable to war as peace. Even Secretary Fish has, in the last day or two, displayed something of a warlike spirit, at variance with the attitude maintained by him for some time, and talks of the difficulty as one that must be handled boldly and courageously. He utterly scutes the suggestion of submitting the question to arbitration. He says the insult is one which cannot be adjusted by a third party.

Late European news is to the effect that the Castelar Government in Spain is about to be overthrown, and a Regent appointed for a youngster called Alfonso.

The Philadelphia Press says that the "area of ground appropriated at Fairmount Park is 450 acres, and is bounded by the Schuylkill River on the east, Girard avenue on the south, Elm avenue on the south, and Fifty-second street on the west—so that Girard avenue, when graded and paved, as is contemplated, will be the main approach to the buildings. Elm avenue and Fortieth and Forty and Forty-first streets will also lead to the Park, and steps have been taken by Councils looking to the improvement of these thoroughfares, in order that they may be made available before the opening of the Exposition. The ground plans, as approved by the Commission, provides for the erection of a machinery hall, conservatory, art gallery, and the main Exposition building. All of these buildings are to be within easy reach of each other, and upon the most beautiful portion of the park. The grand pavilion, or main Exposition building, will have a frontage of 2,075 feet on Elm avenue, and will have a depth of 1,000 feet. Immediately north, and near to the Lansdowne drive, it is designed to erect the art gallery. West of the Exposition will be the machinery and agricultural halls—the former to be 2,275 long, and the latter 1,420 feet. These are to be connected with the main buildings by a covered passage way. A better idea of the immensity of the work to be performed and of the extent of the ground to be occupied will be had when it is stated that the grand pavilion will cover an area of 36.5 acres, which can be increased to 44.5 acres. Machinery Hall will occupy 9.5 acres, and Agricultural Hall 4.6 acres."

A daughter of Senator Thurman was married in Washington on Tuesday last to Hon. R. C. McCormick, Delegate from Arizona.

JEFF DAVIS' DISGUISE.

His Attempt to Escape Capture in a Woman's Dress—Statement of General Pritchard.

A correspondent of the Lyons (Wayne County, New York), Republican, who lately visited Allegan, called upon General Benjamin D. Pritchard, now a resident of that town, who was, during the war, Colonel of the Fourth Regiment of Michigan Cavalry, and had the good fortune to capture Jeff Davis. In conversation with him the correspondent inquired as to the circumstances of Davis' attempted escape, and gives the story thus:

ports that have been widely telegraphed, to the effect that orders have been issued stopping work on war vessels, and in the navy-yards and arsenals, are not correct. On the contrary, orders were issued by the Secretary of the Navy, yesterday, to push forward the work of preparation for active service, with still greater vigor. There is, and will be, no let up. The Administration, notwithstanding Secretary Fish's assurances to the contrary, regards the crisis as a perilous one, the issue of which is as probable to war as peace. Even Secretary Fish has, in the last day or two, displayed something of a warlike spirit, at variance with the attitude maintained by him for some time, and talks of the difficulty as one that must be handled boldly and courageously. He utterly scutes the suggestion of submitting the question to arbitration. He says the insult is one which cannot be adjusted by a third party.

Late European news is to the effect that the Castelar Government in Spain is about to be overthrown, and a Regent appointed for a youngster called Alfonso.

The Philadelphia Press says that the "area of ground appropriated at Fairmount Park is 450 acres, and is bounded by the Schuylkill River on the east, Girard avenue on the south, Elm avenue on the south, and Fifty-second street on the west—so that Girard avenue, when graded and paved, as is contemplated, will be the main approach to the buildings. Elm avenue and Fortieth and Forty and Forty-first streets will also lead to the Park, and steps have been taken by Councils looking to the improvement of these thoroughfares, in order that they may be made available before the opening of the Exposition. The ground plans, as approved by the Commission, provides for the erection of a machinery hall, conservatory, art gallery, and the main Exposition building. All of these buildings are to be within easy reach of each other, and upon the most beautiful portion of the park. The grand pavilion, or main Exposition building, will have a frontage of 2,075 feet on Elm avenue, and will have a depth of 1,000 feet. Immediately north, and near to the Lansdowne drive, it is designed to erect the art gallery. West of the Exposition will be the machinery and agricultural halls—the former to be 2,275 long, and the latter 1,420 feet. These are to be connected with the main buildings by a covered passage way. A better idea of the immensity of the work to be performed and of the extent of the ground to be occupied will be had when it is stated that the grand pavilion will cover an area of 36.5 acres, which can be increased to 44.5 acres. Machinery Hall will occupy 9.5 acres, and Agricultural Hall 4.6 acres."

A daughter of Senator Thurman was married in Washington on Tuesday last to Hon. R. C. McCormick, Delegate from Arizona.

JEFF DAVIS' DISGUISE.

His Attempt to Escape Capture in a Woman's Dress—Statement of General Pritchard.

A correspondent of the Lyons (Wayne County, New York), Republican, who lately visited Allegan, called upon General Benjamin D. Pritchard, now a resident of that town, who was, during the war, Colonel of the Fourth Regiment of Michigan Cavalry, and had the good fortune to capture Jeff Davis. In conversation with him the correspondent inquired as to the circumstances of Davis' attempted escape, and gives the story thus:

ports that have been widely telegraphed, to the effect that orders have been issued stopping work on war vessels, and in the navy-yards and arsenals, are not correct. On the contrary, orders were issued by the Secretary of the Navy, yesterday, to push forward the work of preparation for active service, with still greater vigor. There is, and will be, no let up. The Administration, notwithstanding Secretary Fish's assurances to the contrary, regards the crisis as a perilous one, the issue of which is as probable to war as peace. Even Secretary Fish has, in the last day or two, displayed something of a warlike spirit, at variance with the attitude maintained by him for some time, and talks of the difficulty as one that must be handled boldly and courageously. He utterly scutes the suggestion of submitting the question to arbitration. He says the insult is one which cannot be adjusted by a third party.

Late European news is to the effect that the Castelar Government in Spain is about to be overthrown, and a Regent appointed for a youngster called Alfonso.

The Philadelphia Press says that the "area of ground appropriated at Fairmount Park is 450 acres, and is bounded by the Schuylkill River on the east, Girard avenue on the south, Elm avenue on the south, and Fifty-second street on the west—so that Girard avenue, when graded and paved, as is contemplated, will be the main approach to the buildings. Elm avenue and Fortieth and Forty and Forty-first streets will also lead to the Park, and steps have been taken by Councils looking to the improvement of these thoroughfares, in order that they may be made available before the opening of the Exposition. The ground plans, as approved by the Commission, provides for the erection of a machinery hall, conservatory, art gallery, and the main Exposition building. All of these buildings are to be within easy reach of each other, and upon the most beautiful portion of the park. The grand pavilion, or main Exposition building, will have a frontage of 2,075 feet on Elm avenue, and will have a depth of 1,000 feet. Immediately north, and near to the Lansdowne drive, it is designed to erect the art gallery. West of the Exposition will be the machinery and agricultural halls—the former to be 2,275 long, and the latter 1,420 feet. These are to be connected with the main buildings by a covered passage way. A better idea of the immensity of the work to be performed and of the extent of the ground to be occupied will be had when it is stated that the grand pavilion will cover an area of 36.5 acres, which can be increased to 44.5 acres. Machinery Hall will occupy 9.5 acres, and Agricultural Hall 4.6 acres."

A daughter of Senator Thurman was married in Washington on Tuesday last to Hon. R. C. McCormick, Delegate from Arizona.

JEFF DAVIS' DISGUISE.

His Attempt to Escape Capture in a Woman's Dress—Statement of General Pritchard.

A correspondent of the Lyons (Wayne County, New York), Republican, who lately visited Allegan, called upon General Benjamin D. Pritchard, now a resident of that town, who was, during the war, Colonel of the Fourth Regiment of Michigan Cavalry, and had the good fortune to capture Jeff Davis. In conversation with him the correspondent inquired as to the circumstances of Davis' attempted escape, and gives the story thus: